BRIGADIER GENERAL ARTHUR NEILL,
Private Secretary to Governor and Acting Adjutant General.

HEADQUARTERS ARKANSAS STATE GUARD,
LITTLE ROCK, ARK., December 1, 1900.

To Hon. Daniel W. Jones, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Military Forces of Arkansas:

I have the honor to submit to you the following as my report as Acting Adjutant General of the Arkansas State Guard and Reserve Militia, for the period of your administration, including a complete Roster of the Arkansas troops in the United States service in the Spanish-American war, and a brief resume of their service.

ARTHUR NEILL,
Brig. Gen., A. S. G., and Acting Adjt. Gen.

At the beginning of your administration in January, 1897, the State Guard was very much disorganized and almost wholly ineffective, there having been but little activity therein since 1894 and 1895. It was then composed of two regiments of infantry, one battery of artillery, one troop of cavalry and one signal corps. A reorganization was immediately begun, and two new regiments (3d and 4th) of infantry, another troop of cavalry, and another battery of artillery organized. Maj. Gen. R. G. Shaver was commissioned and placed in command, and divided the State in two military districts, the Arkansas River being the dividing line. Brig. Gen. C. R. Shaer was commissioned and placed in immediate command of the southern district, where the 1st and 2d Infantry and the two batteries of artillery and signal corps were stationed; Maj. Gen. V. Y. Cook was commissioned and placed in immediate command of the Northern District, where the 2d and 4th Infantry and the squadron of cavalry were stationed.

There being no appropriation by the State for militia purposes, these organizations were equipped as far as possible with the antiquated equipment then on hand, and the annual allotments from the United States Government. A roster of these organizations and their commanders and headquarters is appended elsewhere.

This was the condition of the militia at the outbreak of the Spanish war.

Inter-State National Guard Association.

A call was issued by Adj. Gen. Bell, of Missouri, for a meeting of the militia organizations of the Mississippi Valley States in December, 1897, which was attended by the following delegates from Arkansas:

Arthur Neill, Acting Adjutant General; Maj. Gen. R. G. Shaver, Maj. Gen. V. Y. Cook, Brig. Gen. C. R. Shaer and Surg. Gen. J. M. Keller. A permanent organization of seventeen States, known as the Inter-State Association of the National Guard, was the result, and meetings have been held each year since, and the organization has been productive of great good to the militia of the country.

Frequent encampments of small bodies of troops have been had at veterans' reunions, and other occasions, but no general encampments, there being no means available to provide for same. There has been no occasion for calling out troops for service within the State at any time.

Spanish-American War.

The declaration of war was anticipated throughout the State and the Governor was besieged with offers of service both by organizations and individuals. On April 25, 1898, the call of the President for two regiments of infantry of 1000 men each was received.

No two regiments of the State Guard were well enough organized and equipped to be mustered in intact, and it was the desire of the Governor to have all sections of the State represented as far as possible. He therefore proceeded to make up two new regiments from selected companies from the State Guard, and from the different sections of the State. A brief history of each company is appended elsewhere. The commander of each company selected was ordered to immediately recruit his company to 100 or more men and be in readiness to move to Little Rock, with all available arms and camp equipage.

The camp was located by the following order:

HEADQUARTERS ARKANSAS STATE GUARD,

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., May 2, 1898.

General Order No. 2.

Little Rock, Arkansas, having been designated as the place of rendezvous by the Secretary of War of the two regiments of infantry called from Arkansas to enlist as United States volunteers, the place of camp is hereby fixed at corner of College Avenue and Seventeenth Street, in said city, and designated as "Camp Dodge," as a tribute of respect to the late Dr. Roderick Dodge, a long and honored resident of the State, to whose estate the site of the camp belongs, and whose heirs have courteously donated the use of the same for this purpose.

By order of DANIEL W. JONES,
Governor of Arkansas and Commander-in-Chief of the Forces Thereof.

The troops were kept in camp at the various company rendezvous until necessary tentage and camp equipage could be provided for them at Camp Dodge.

Funds.

There was no appropriation available for use by the Governor for this or any other purpose in connection with the mobilization of these troops, nor had he any authority to pledge the credit of the State for funds for such purpose. Offers of loans were made by various citizens and corporations, and, after a conference with the Arkansas Bankers' Association, loans to the amount of $7350 were accepted, the Governor agreeing to recommend an appropriation by the Legislature at its next meeting to cover the same. The banks of the Association advanced amounts in proportion to their capital stocks. This amount was expended, and about $2500 additional in bills incurred, making $10,000 in all, in sustaining, clothing and transporting troops up to the time of muster-in. The next General Assembly, which convened in January, 1899, promptly made an appropriation to refund these loans, which was done, and the United States Government later repaid to the State nearly the whole of the amount. A list of those making loans is appended elsewhere.

Medical Examination.

The following request by the War Department was made on the Governor on April 27th:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27, 1898.

The Governor, Arkansas, Little Rock, Ark.

Mustering regulations of the War Department provide that medical officers before being mustered into service of the United States will be required to pass satisfactory examination as to character and professional ability before a Board of Army or Civilian Surgeons, or both, designated by the Surgeon-General. An army surgeon has been designated to conduct physical examination for volunteers at each State rendezvous. The Secretary of War requests that you appoint two civilian physicians to constitute, with the army surgeon, a board for carrying out the above provisions.

H. C. CORBIN, Adjutant General.

Major Harry O. Perley, U. S. A., then in command of the United States Army and Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., was designated as the Army Surgeon, and the Governor designated his Surgeon-General, J. M. Keller, of Hot Springs, and Dr. G. M. D. Cantrell, of Little Rock, as the civilian members of the Examining Board. This board thereupon held an examination of applicants for positions as medical officers, and recommended to the Governor the appointments of medical officers made in the two regiments.

Mobilization.

Capt. Percy E. Trippe, 10th Cav., U. S. A., then on detached duty as military instructor at the Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia, was detailed as mustering officer, and 1st Lt. Joseph Frazer, 8th Inf., U. S. A., as Quartermaster and Commissary, and reported to the Governor.

On May, the concentration of troops was begun by ordering the Little Rock companies to Camp Dodge, and from then on companies to compose the other two regiments arrived daily, and were mustered in as rapidly as the medical examinations could be concluded. The muster-in of the 1st Regiment was completed on May 20, and of the 2d Regiment on May 25.

A complete roster of both regiments, compiled in this office from the official muster-in and muster-out rolls, is appended elsewhere; also a brief history of each company, and of the service of the two regiments. Upon the second call of the President the State was entitled to have 1200 more men in service, and the offers of service were ample to provide them. The War Department, however, ordered both regiments to be recruited up to the maximum of 1326 men each, and made no provision for service for the remainder of the quota to which the State was entitled.

Signal Corps.

The Signal Corps of the State Guard, stationed at Little Rock, volunteered for service, but were not accepted as an organization, but two officers were appointed therefrom, whose names and service appear in a list of presidential appointees appended elsewhere. A number of other appointees in the different Staff Departments are shown in that list.

There has been little activity in the State Guard since the muster-in of the troops into United States service, and the organization remains as before with the exception of the addition of the Desha Rifles, an independent company organized and equipped in Desha County in August, 1899, in anticipation of a threatened race trouble in that section at that time, but there has been no occasion for active service by it.

A reorganization is desirable, and it was the intention of the Commander-in-Chief to effect this during the summer of this year, and to provide for but two regiments of infantry, and attach thereto the artillery and cavalry. Other pressing public duties claimed his attention, and the Acting Adjutant General being also Private Secretary to the Governor, and no provision being made for assistance or clerk hire, it was thought best not to attempt the reorganization, but to leave the annual allotment by the Government to accumulate to some future time, when it may become possible to reorganize and properly equip the Guard.

COL. J. M. KELLER,
Surgeon General Arkansas State Guard.

The General Assembly of 1899 also made an appropriation of $1200 to provide for the publication of this report, to repair the State Armory and preserve the military property. Nearly the whole of this amount has been expended for such purposes, and the armory is in good state of repair, but most of the military property is in the hands of the different organizations or stored at points in the State, where it can be made available for encampments of militia and veterans' reunions.

The relations between the military department of the State and the officers of the U. S. Army who have been in command and stationed at Fort Logan H. Roots, have at all times been cordial, and the department acknowledges assistance and many courtesies from them from time to time, especially in the organization of the volunteer regiments. They have also, when requested, made details of non-commissioned officers to drill newly organized companies of militia.

SECOND ARKANSAS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY—HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL.

Organized from selected companies of the Arkansas State Guard at Camp Dodge, Little Rock, by Gov. D. W. Jones upon call of the President, received April 25, 1898; muster-in completed May 25, 1000 men and officers; ordered to Chickamauga Park, Ga., where it arrived May 30, and was assigned to 2d Brigade, 2d Division, 3d Army Corps, fully armed and equipped, and remained there until September 9, when was ordered to Camp Shipp, Anniston, Ala., where it remained in winter quarters.

This regiment was never permitted to engage in active service, and was kept in service long after all probability of such service had ended, and the last few months' service was exceedingly irksome and unsatisfactory to men and officers. It suffered severely from malarial, typhoid and other fevers, the result of the improper sanitary arrangement and crowded condition of Camp George H. Thomas during the summer and fall of 1898, and from the severe winter at Camp Shipp, but sanitary conditions were better there and the health of the regiment greatly improved, after its arrival there, where it was disbanded and mustered out February 25, 1899. It was successively a part of the 3d, 4th and 2d Army Corps.

Col. Virgil Y. Cook—Col. Cook was a Kentuckian, but resided in Arkansas since 1866. Among his ancestry were veterans of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the various Indian wars and the Confederate service in the Civil War. He entered the Confederate service before 15 years of age as a trooper in Co. H, 7th Ky. Cav., Forrest's Corps, participating in the battles and campaigns of that command, and surrendered at Gainesville, Ala., May 10, 1865.

He has since spent his life as merchant and planter in the "Oil Trough" region in Jackson and Independence Counties, his home being at Elmo; has been active in organization of the "United Confederate Veterans," and served successively as Aide-de-Camp to Gen. John B. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the organization, as Adjutant General and as Major General commanding the Arkansas Division thereof, which latter position he still holds; was commissioned Major General, A. S. G., in 1897, and placed in command of the Northern Military Division of the State, and was one of the most active officers in the reorganization of the Guard during that year, and still holds that command. He rendered valuable service in the organization of the Arkansas Volunteers, and was made Colonel of the 2d Ark. Vol. Inf., and served as such throughout, commanding a brigade during a great part of the time, and was mustered out with the regiment.

Lt. Col. DeRosey C. Cabell—Born Charleston, Ark., July 7, 1861; appointed from Arkansas to U. S. Military Academy, West Point, in 1880; graduated and assigned as Second Lieutenant to 8th U. S. Cavalry, 1884; promoted to First Lieutenant April 17, 1891; served with troops in Geronimo-Apache campaign, in New Mexico and Arizona, May, 1885, to October, 1886; wounded in skirmish with Apaches December 19, 1885; on detached duty as Professor of Military Science and Tactics at University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, from July, 1890, to March, 1892; participated in Sioux Indian campaign in 1890; Regimental Quartermaster 8th U. S. Cav. from October, 1892, to August, 1894. Appointed Captain and Assistant Adjutant General of Volunteers May 12, 1898, and declined to accept; commissioned Lieutenant Colonel, 2d Ark. Vol. Inf., May 9, 1898, and served as such throughout, being three months in command of regiment. Promoted to Captaincy in U. S. A., assigned to 6th Cavalry, and to recruiting duty at Dallas, Tex., after muster out as Lieutenant Colonel of Volunteers; later ordered back to regiment at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and went with it to China in summer, 1900, and now in service there.

Major Claude H. Sayle—Served many years in Arkansas State Guard, at Little Rock, as Captain of Co. A, 1st Regt. and as Major of that regiment from 1892. Appointed Major of 2d Ark. Vol. Inf. and served with it throughout, being mustered out at Anniston, Ala.

Major James Junius Johnson—Was born and reared in Little Rock and spent two years in the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, but did not finish the course there; has always been active in militia circles; went to Western States and became a miner and mining engineer; in 1894, without any personal interest in the controversy, but because he believed their cause was just, he espoused the cause of the striking silver miners at Colorado Springs Col., and was chosen by them as their leader and commander under the title "General, Army of Bull Hill;" he organized in a few days a force of 1300 men, enforced military rules and discipline, and armed and equipped and provisioned it, and entrenched it on Bull Hill, where it successfully withstood for sometime the sheriff and posse, whom they had reason to believe would deal summarily and harshly with the leaders of the striking miners if surrendered; volunteered to surrender to the Governor of the State, who sent a representative to whom they did surrender. The organization, equipment, discipline and successful command of the Army of Bull Hill was a striking proof of the military genius of the man. When war was declared with Spain he was engaged in mining near Baker City, Oregon, and immediately resigned a lucrative position, returned to his native State, reorganized and was elected Captain of Co. D, 1st Regt., A. S. G. (Fletcher Rifles, Little Rock), and was appointed Major 2d Ark. Vol. Inf. upon its muster in; served with the regiment until September 29, 1898, when he died suddenly of typhoid fever at Anniston, Ala., where the regiment was then in camp. He was buried a few days later with military honors at Mount Holly Cemetery, Little Rock.

Capable, brave and determined, yet gentle, he would have undoubtedly distinguished himself as a soldier and commander had he lived and had an opportunity for active service.

First Lt. and Adj. Moorhead Wright—Graduated Virginia Military Institute in 1892 with rank of Captain of Cadets. Upon reorganization of State Guard in 1894 appointed Major and served thereafter as Assistant Adjutant General and Chief of Staff to Brig. Gen. George P. Taylor, then in command of the militia of the State; served throughout as Adjutant of 2d Ark., his college military training making him one of the most efficient volunteer officers in the army.

Volunteered, was examined and appointed Surgeon of 2d Ark. Vol. Inf. on May 9, 1898, and served with it and as Brigade Surgeon at Camp George H. Thomas until October 8, 1898, when peace was assured, when resigned and returned to private practice at Pine Bluff.
